SOCIETY EDITOR.

While the spring has been unusually gay, society has had little opportunity to entertain for her favorite guest of honor—the bride elect. There have been few engagements announced and it looked for a time as if, after all, June might pass without a wedding. This is not to be, for a few days ago Miss Emma Luhrs confided to a few friends the date of her marriage to Dr. Reginald Stroud of Gleason, which has been set for the eighth of the month. It is perhaps just as well that there were no other brides to be feted for had there been, social life would have been too strenuous for this season. Miss Luhrs' popularity was demonstrated in the number of charming affairs given in her compliment and the wedding will be a climax to these events. It is not to be a large affair, the relatives and guests numbering fifty in all. It will take place at the apartments of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. N. Luhrs in the Commercial Hotel. A pink color scheme is to be used in decoration and will be daintily carried out in a wealth of spring blossoms. Dean Scarlett of the Trinity Pro-Cathedral will read the service at the appointed hour, eight o'clock. Preceding the ceremony George Luhrs will sing "O Promise Me," and will be followed by Miss Anna Morahan who will sing "O Perfect Love." Mrs. William Bertram will play the wedding march. Little Miss Helen Newhouse, a niece of Dr. Stroud will be the flower girl and Miss Ella Luhrs will be her sister's maid of honor. Miss Fay De Mund and Miss Mildred Doderhoff will be the bridesmaids. Arthur C. Taylor will act as best man and the ushers will include George Luhrs and Lloyd Eisle. The young people will pass their honeymoon in Detroit and will be at home in Gleason in the early autumn.

One of the charming events of the week was the wedding of Miss Lois Reynolds and Robert Paris Feland, president of the Arizona Sales company, which took place at six o'clock yesterday morning at the Phillips House. Reverend A. R. Gaddis of the Methodist Episcopal church read the service. The bride, who was unattended, wore a fetching frock of silk voile trimmed in rare old Valenciennes lace. Following the ceremony a charmingly appointed breakfast of sixteen covers was served. Mr. and Mrs. Feland left at noon for a motor trip through the northern part of the state and will be at home in Phoenix in the autumn.

There were several pleasant events given for the bride last week, one of the most attractive being the linen shower given by Miss Dabney Feland. Roses decorated with pretty effect. Miss Feland's guests included twenty of the most intimate friends of the attractive guest of honor.

Within the next few weeks the Iron Springs contingent will be on their way to the delightful camp. The cottagers will number more than ever this season and life will be correspondingly gay. Although the season does not formally open until the Fourth of July, by the middle of June many of the cottages will be occupied. Mrs. W. K. James will be among the first to leave for the mountain resort in the north. The Lamar Cobbs, Aaron Goldbergs, David Goldbergs, Sidney J. Ross, Ernest Lewis will pass at least a part of the summer there.

Mrs. Emil Ganz gave one of the most novel events of the season Thursday when she entertained with a military luncheon and bridge at her home on North Central Avenue. The dining room carried out a dainty pink color scheme in direct contrast to the living room and reception hall where a wealth of American Beauty roses and silk flags were used. The Eichenbrenner orchestra furnished a delightful program throughout the afternoon, while the merry war was being carried on. In place of the usual score, the winner at each table was given a flag, the final victory going to Germany. The prizes were captured by Mrs. John Spangler, Mrs. James S. A sport supper dance closed the Country club's season Friday evening. While the members will still enjoy the delights to be found only at the club house the entertainments from now on will be of a private nature. Until the autumn the club will not attempt anything in the way of affairs. The closing event was particularly delightful for its jolly informality. The tables were arranged out of doors on the broad verandas where the music could be heard distinctly from the clubhouse. Later dancing was enjoyed, nearly the entire membership being present. The event was given in compliment to the outgoing and incoming officers. At the recent election Judge Richard E. Sloan was again chosen to head the organization, H. L. Aller was re-elected vice president, J. G. Spangler of Mesa treasurer and Howard S. Reed secretary. President Sloan has already selected the committee to serve for the ensuing year. Mrs. E. J. It is understood that the Harmony club at its last meeting for the season on Wednesday will again ask Mrs. T. M. Elder to accept the office of president. For the past eleven years Mrs. Elder has headed the organization, although she has not been a candidate for the office for many seasons. Mrs. Elder has repeatedly told the members that a younger and more active woman who could give up more of her time to the work should be chosen, but the club believes that no one could fill her place. Certainly her regime has been successful. There seems to be a particular niche for this organization. Its efforts largely along philanthropic and civic lines, have borne excellent results. It is understood there will be no suggestion of change of policy at the closing meeting although any suggestions for the good of the organization will be received and read by the secretary, Mrs. A. J. Bellas at this time.
